Date: _____

Information: The federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) sets the minimum age of employment for workers in the United States as well as certain minimum standards, such as a cap on hours, for minor workers under the age of 16. Each state, however, also has certain restrictions on minors working. It is always a good idea to consult with an attorney licensed in your particular state to understand the laws around minors working.

The standards set by the FLSA are as follows (please be advised the standards for minors working may be more restrictive in individual states, but may not be less restrictive in the areas covered by federal law and that in all applicable cases, the more restrictive standard, be that federal or state, will apply):

- Minors may not work in any positions or fields declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor.
- Those 18 years of age or older: no restrictions on work
- 16- and 17-year-olds: may not work in hazardous positions, but no restrictions on hours worked
  - 16 is the general age minimum provided by the FLSA for employment unless the Secretary for Labor issues a regulation or order otherwise
- 14- and 15-year-olds may only work outside normal school hours.
  - Additionally, they may not work:

- More than 18 hours per week while school is in session
- More than 40 hours per week while school is not in session
- More than 3 hours a day on school days
- More than 8 hours a day on non-school days
- Before 7:00 AM or after 7:00 PM, except from June 1 until Labor Day, during which time may work until 9:00 PM
- May work only in the following fields (provided by YouthRules.gov):
  - retail
  - intellectual or creative work such as computer programming, teaching, tutoring, singing, acting, or playing an instrument
  - errands or delivery work by foot, bicycle, and public transportation
  - clean-up and yard work which does not include using power-driven mowers, cutters, trimmers, edgers, or similar equipment
  - in connection with cars and trucks such as dispensing gasoline or oil and washing or hand polishing;
  - some kitchen and food service work including reheating food, washing dishes, cleaning equipment, and limited cooking
  - cleaning vegetables and fruits, wrapping, sealing, and labeling, weighing, pricing, and stocking of items when performed in areas separate from a freezer or meat cooler
  - loading or unloading objects for use at a worksite including rakes, hand-held clippers, and shovels
  - 14- and 15-year-olds who meet certain requirements can perform limited tasks in sawmills and wood shops
  - 15-year-olds who meet certain requirements can perform lifeguard duties at traditional swimming pools and water amusement parks.
