Terms & Conditions Change Notice

To our users:

We're making updates to our Terms & Conditions and wanted to share the details with you.

First thing's first: the reason we've decided to make these changes is to comply with a new law. Specifically, we're updating to be in compliance with the following: _____.

Our new Terms & Conditions will go into effect on _____. You can find the live link to the updated Terms & Conditions here: _____.

We'll ask you to agree through an affirmative action to these changes. Once you've agreed, you consent to our updated Terms.

Here, we'll summarize the changes we've made, but we really recommend that you fully review the new Terms & Conditions to ensure that you understand everything that's different.

These are the Articles we've made changes to and why we're changing them:

1. _____

We'd specifically like to highlight the following as informational points for our users:

_____

If you have any questions about any of these changes, you can reach us at the following email: _____.

As part of recent updates to our Terms, we're also updating our Privacy Policy. The live link to our new Privacy Policy can be found here: _____.

Thanks for being a part of our team.
